

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A liquid crystal display panel fabricating method includes forming a liquid crystal layer on a first substrate of the liquid crystal panel before attaching a second substrate to the first substrate. After attaching the second substrate to the first substrate having the liquid
5 crystal layer, the liquid crystal layer is heat-treated so that the liquid crystal layer becomes activated.